Kamaron Institute Management Consulting Services

Kamaron Institute, founded by Margaret Ross, is a management and educational consulting firm advising and leading companies on issues of market strategy, organizational dynamics, communication's technology and staff development.

The aim of the Kamaron Management Consulting Practice is to make a positive impact on our clients' thinking, business results, and their human operating environment. We are specialists in Marketing Leadership and People Development.

Our approach and materials are tailored to meet the needs of the client. We come to each engagement with no preconceived ideas; we help top management develop solutions for their most challenging problems. We take an overall independent and fact-based view of performance. We rely on facts because they can align working groups. We clarify common goals because this raises the view beyond competing agendas. We work directly with leaders who can partner with us to develop and accept recommendations and have the ability to implement them.
